Welcome!

April—the ultimate prankster! One day we’re basking in the sunshine; the next, we’re reaching for our coats again.... April fools?!?! The weather may keep us guessing, but with buds already appearing and longer days ahead, we know spring is truly on its way. Yay!

Our plates will soon be full again with the winter term ending and the spring right around the corner. As those schedules fill up, be sure to prioritize your well-being. Take breaks, step outside for some fresh air, and lean on your teammates for support.

Wishing you all a super April!

Getting to know your work buddies!

Name: Dr. Lyleth Femmina Bustillo

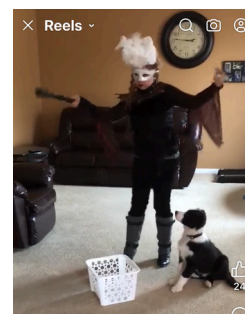

Position: Associate Professor

B&SC Service Yrs: 7 years

What do you do?

I teach and mentor students pursuing nursing degrees, combining classroom instruction with clinical training. My responsibilities include designing and delivering simulation plus lectures, reviewing policies and protocols through a faculty meeting conducted by the Dean, assessing student performance, conducting laboratory demonstrations, and staying current with developments in nursing practice and healthcare. I also supervise students during clinical placements and may contribute to academic performance in both classroom and clinical and leadership roles. Nursing professors are crucial in preparing the next generation of nurses and advancing nursing education.

Neat Facts About Me!

1. What was your first paying job? Community Health Nurse/Public Health Nurse

2. What is your favorite aspect of working at B&SC? The opportunity to directly impact the future of healthcare by shaping and mentoring the next generation of nurses. It's gratifying to watch students grow, not only in their clinical skills but also in their critical thinking, compassion, and confidence. Being able to support students through challenging coursework, as well as real-world clinical experiences, creates a strong sense of fulfillment in helping them become competent, compassionate caregivers. Plus, there's a sense of community and collaboration with colleagues, enhancing personal and professional growth.

3. Describe B&SC in 5 words or less. Challenging, collaborative, compassionate, transformative, supportive

4. What is the best advice you've ever been given? "Embrace every challenge as an opportunity to learn; mistakes are part of growth, and compassion is as important as skill. Take care of yourself first; self-care is essential to caring for others effectively."

Lyleth's Quick Q's!

Favorite Food: Grilled fish (good source of lean protein, healthy fats, vitamins and minerals)

Favorite Show: Dog Agility (I have no choice; otherwise my Border Collie will keep barking!)

Random Fact(S) About You: I drink ½ cup of coffee every morning w/ Truvia; I am a member of the Tamaraw dance Troup of Chicago and a stage performer; fashion is essential to me; I like to play agility with my Border Collie and train my dogs; Karaoke signing and conga drum if I have extra time; I love to work more than one job; I value empathy and compassion; I have a sense of humor, started cooking at 4:30 in the morning - 2+ dishes; dignity and reputation are important to me; safety for my children is my priority, I do NCLEX review in Illinois schools.

Favorite Movie: Bodyguard from Beijing (Jet Li)

Do you have any Pets? Nido, my smartest border Collie, who likes to watch TV and has the biggest tablet that I need to bring for him to watch agility; Bruno, the gorgeous Siberian Husky who always picks up things for me; and Dice, the German Shepherd, who protects everybody in the house.

What Kind of Music is on Your Phone/Radio?: My ring tone for calls is Careless Whisper, and for the messages is Sway (Pussy Cat dolls). I like to listen to mellow songs like oldies but goodies songs.

What is one thing you can't live without? Rice

What is the best book you've ever read? If necessary, I only read books about NCLEX reviews to enhance my mental capacity to share my knowledge with my students and reviewers.
